Features:	Unstable geology

	High-tech ruins

Arcadia's squat, thick-limbed alien plants stretch away beneath a blue sky. The colonists live in squat high-tech cities with buildings sealed against the planet's harsh environment, by lakes of water melted from the planet's ice caps. Poverty, exploitation and crime are rife, and the corrupt elected government does little to alleviate them. In the first city stand monuments to the 323 colonists who died building the first settlement and the seedship AI that guided humanity to its new home.
